

KENTUCKY PRESS ASSOCIATION

City Business Men and Rural Writers Agree on Development Issues.

MUCH INTERESTING SHOP TALK AT THE MID-WINTER SESSION.

The mid-winter business meeting of the Kentucky Press Association was held at Louisville Friday and Saturday of last week, January 6 and 7 and was greatly enjoyed by a number of its members who take kindly to that branch of association work. It was a disappointment from the view point of a starting place for a jaunt. Because of business reasons there were only a few newspaper men who could take the proposed delightful trip to Florida and Cuba. And these decided to remain at home rather than make the trip in so small a party.

The program as announced last week was carried out, with the exception of the absence of two or three papers, but with the addition of some extra features of entertainment at the hands of Louisville business men and friends.

The business meetings were held in the Council Chamber at City Hall and the association was welcomed by Acting Mayor Paul C. Barth. Several papers were read and discussed at the first session Friday afternoon and invitations were accepted from Secretary J. C. Van Pelt, of the Commercial Club, to take luncheon Saturday with the officers of that body, and from Manager John T. Macaulay to see Mr. Tim Murphy at Macaulay's Theatre Friday evening.

President Louis Landrum read, at the Friday session, his address containing valuable suggestions for the future guidance of association work.

Saturday morning's meeting was crowded full of good things and made so interesting that the association could hardly adjourn in time for luncheon with their friends of the Commercial Club, of which all of the association are honorary members.

At the Saturday session the extra legislative session was discussed, and the question of a new capital building was generally endorsed by individual members but the association declined to commit itself on a resolution endorsing the extra session and asking for a new site, for the reason that it was not considered wise to commit the association upon questions about which individual members might hold differing views.

Important resolutions were offered by President Landrum at the Friday session and unanimously adopted by the association, pledging the association to the material development of Kentucky and the exploitation of the importance and advisability of Louisville as a wholesale market for merchants of Kentucky.

GIDEONS MEET AT HOPKINSVILLE

All Churches Occupied Sunday by Christian Drummers.

The second State Convention of the Kentucky Gideons met at Hopkinsville Saturday night says the Kentuckian. Many prominent members of the order were present to take in the proceed logs. A "camp fire," presided over by J. M. Robbins, of Jackson, Tenn., was kindled by Geo. L. Masters, of Evansville, at the Episcopal church. Sunday morning at 7 o'clock there was a prayer and praise meeting at the Cumberland Presbyterian church. Sunday morning at 11 o'clock all the local pulpits were filled by Gideons. In the afternoon there was a young peoples' meeting at the Methodist church and a men's mass meeting at the Christian church, and at night union service at the Tabernacle.

The election of officers resulted as follows: President, L. B. Manson, of Louisville; Vice-President, R. M. Smith, of Shelbyville; Secretary and Treasurer, Abner Johnson, of Madisonville.

Charles H. Palmer, of Chicago, National Superintendent of Gideons, presided at the business meeting.

W. W. ARMER

Given a Sentence of Twenty-One Years for Slaying His Son Near Calhoun Last May.

A special from Owensboro, Ky., dated Jan. 7th says: "We, the jury, find the defendant, W. W. Armer, guilty of manslaughter and fix his punishment at twenty-one years in the penitentiary."

The verdict was a compromise. On the first ballot one of the jurors were for a life sentence and three for twenty-one years. After three hours of arguing among themselves the three men won the nine over to their way of thinking.

The crime for which Armer was convicted was an atrocious one. On a May afternoon he went to a field after finishing making a pastoral call and demanded that his seventeen-year-old boy stop work and come with him. The boy asked to be allowed to finish the work. This enraged the father, who seized a brakebeam and struck him a violent blow over the head, felling him to the ground and crushing his skull. The father then dragged the boy to a buggy and placed him upright in it. He tied him up in the buggy, and as the vehicle jolted along over the rough roads the almost lifeless body would slip down. The preacher would reach down and pull the body in position by the hair. He did not think the boy was seriously hurt. When the facts in the case became known Armer was arrested and lodged in jail at Calhoun. He remained there one night and then was hurried to Owensboro to avoid a mob. His home is near Grayville, Ill. He has lived in Kentucky for about two years.

Crutchfield-Rodgers.

Mrs. Saunie Crutchfield and Mr. H. W. Rodgers were married yesterday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the residence of Mrs. M. K. Gordon, of Madisonville, the Rev. Howard J. Brazleton performing the ceremony in his usual impressive manner. The ceremony was a quiet one, only a few intimate friends being present. After the ceremony an elaborate supper was given by Mrs. Gordon, after which they were driven to Earlinton. Mr. Rodgers is a popular young business man of this city and Mrs. Crutchfield is one of Earlinton's best women.

WARNER CAMPBELL DEAD

Engine Turned Over on Him on Denver & Rio Grande.

WAS BURIED BY KNIGHTS TEMPLAR.

Warner Campbell was killed by the overturning of his engine in a wreck on the Denver & Rio Grande railroad near Chama, N. M., late Saturday night or early Sunday morning.

The first news of the sad accident that reached here came to the Knights Templar Sunday evening in a telegram signed "H. L. Moore" from Chama which read:

"Brother Warner Campbell killed at an early hour this morning by engine turning over. Remains turned over to Rio Grande Commandery No. 18, Alamosa, Col."

The news was a shock to the many sincere friends of Warner Campbell here who loved him as a brother and had delighted to see him ever so briefly, on his occasional visit from the west, since he left Kentucky, or to catch something of his cheery spirit from his occasional letters.

The later news confirmed the first telegram but gave no further details of the fatal accident. It was learned that every detail was being handled with prompt and careful interest by the western friends of the deceased, with the complete cooperation of the officials of the railroad for which he had worked.

The body was taken by the Knights Templar to Alamosa and started from there on its long journey home in charge of a friend named Wright, who is also an engineer on the D. & R. G. A telegram from Sept. Lee, of that road, announced this arrangement, the start being made from Alamosa Monday night.

The deceased was about 35 years old, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. L. Campbell, of Hopkinsville, and a brother of Will E. Campbell, of that place. He was formerly for some years an engineer on the Henderson division of the Louisville & Nashville railroad and universally popular man with many sincere friends. He was a member of St. Bernard Commandery No. 29 Knights Templar, of that place, and was also a member of the Elks and other benevolent societies.

Mr. F. B. Arnold, Eminent Commander of St. Bernard Commandery, and other Earlinton Knights conferred with the family and friends of the deceased and arrangements were completed for the funeral. By request of Commander Arnold Moore Commandery of Hopkinsville will conduct the funeral services assisted by a delegation from St. Bernard Commandery who will go from here as an escort to the deceased upon arrival of the remains, which are expected on the early train this morning.

Flinched Again.

A jolly party of friends met at the residence of Mrs. Harriet Browning on Main street Saturday night and indulged in the popular game of Flinch, which was played until late hour, when delightful refreshments were served and enjoyed. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Browning, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Coyne, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. McGar, Misses Annie Ashby, Annie Moore and Georgia Wyatt, Messrs. Tom and Ed Trahern and John Long.

WILL DIE TOMORROW.

Unless Gov. Beckham Grants Respite.

George Holland, the old negro whose sentence of death for complicity in the murder of an unknown white man near Pembroke in November, 1903, was recently affirmed by the Court of Appeals, will be hung tomorrow unless Gov. Beckham grants a respite.

When the execution takes place it is probable that the death room of the new jail, which is fitted with trap door, etc., will be used instead of having a scaffold built in the jail yard.

Holland has now been in jail more than a year, and is the only one of the nine negroes charged with the crime whose sentence of death has been affirmed. Of course the other three convicted and sentenced by this court to pay the death penalty one, Charles Finch, was granted a new trial, and the cases of the other two, Frank Meriwether and Dick Carney, were reversed by the Court of Appeals. The strain has told heavily upon the old negro, and although he has been buoyed up by hopes that something would interfere in his behalf and keep him from being hung, he now seems to have given up hope and spends a considerable portion of his time in making his spiritual peace.

Birthday Surprise.

Wednesday, January 4th, was the eighteenth birthday of Jewell Webb, the popular young son of Mr. and Mrs. O. P. Webb, and his mother prepared a pleasant surprise for him by inviting a number of his friends to spend the evening.

The house was tastefully decorated with holly, and the table presented a lovely appearance with a wreath of holly extending the entire length and the birthday cake in the center containing eighteen candles.

The evening was spent in playing games and in merry conversation. At 10:30 the dining room was thrown open and delicious refreshments served. In cutting the birthday cake, the ring and needle fell to Miss Lillie Evans and the money to Howard J. Brazelton. Many useful presents were brought, for which Jewell is profoundly grateful.

Those present were: Misses, Dean, Rule, Root, Evans, Rice and Edmondson; Messrs. Cowell, Baynham, Maloney, Hooser, Barnett, White, Coward and Fenwick.

Mrs. Webb was assisted in entertaining by Mrs. Howard J. Brazelton and Miss Annie Rice.

HARGIS AND CALLAHAN.

Damages of $8,000 Given in Marcum Suit at Winchester.

THREATEN CRIMINAL PROSECUTION.

Winchester, Ky., Jan. 10.—The jury in the Marcum damage case returned a verdict for $8,000 against Jas. Hargis and Ed Callahan jointly and exonerated Alex. Hargis and B. F. French from any connection with the alleged conspiracy to kill James B. Marcum. The plaintiff will appeal from the judgment in favor of Alex. Hargis and B. F. French, and the defendants, James Hargis and Ed Callahan, will probably appeal from the verdict against them.

It is announced that the defendants will now be indicted on charge of conspiracy for the death of James B. Marcum and that they will be prosecuted on this charge.

Open Letter.

To the Republicans of Kentucky: Colonels, Office-seekers and Gentlemen:—You know that our State has a reputation, good or bad, depending entirely on the standpoint from which it is viewed. More is expected from us than any other people in the world, for good or bad, one or the other, or both. When we go away from home our personal appearances attract more attention than any other people. Now I propose that we redeem the State. My plan is this: We are all going to the inauguration March 4th—the Colonels, the Office-seekers and the Gentlemen. Let us all be Colonels for that day, and join in the parade, attired in black frock coat, black slouch hat, each Colonel carrying a stick, out from a Kentucky forest. "A Big Stick."

If this proposition meets with favor, we can arrange with the Kentucky Colonels, Office holders and Gentlemen, that are now in Washington, to secure Kentucky headquarters.

What say you?
Very Truly,
R. R. PERRY,
Winchester, Ky.

JOHN B. WALKER

Crosses the Silent River at the Confederate Home at Pewee Valley.

Col. Jno. B. Walker, formerly of Madisonville, died at the Confederate home at Pewee Valley last week of heart trouble aged eighty-five years.

Col. Walker was well known in this county. The title of colonel was bestowed on Mr. Walker by Governor Luke P. Blackburn, while he was serving on the Governor's staff. He was a native of Pennsylvania, but moved to Madisonville before the war and was a frequent contributor of articles on the slavery question to the Louisville Journal before that paper was merged with the Courier-Journal.

He enlisted at the outbreak of the war in Foley's Cavalry with a Kentucky regiment and served throughout the war.

The remains of Col. Walker were brought to Madisonville Thursday on train No. 52 and interred at the Odd Fellows' cemetery under the auspices of Confederate Camp No. 528.

Y. Q. Walker, of this place, is a grandson of the deceased. Several friends from Earlinton attended the funeral.

GAIN FOR INDIANA.

Shifting of Ohio River Bed Takes Land From Kentucky.

Evansville, Ind., Jan. 8.—By the changing of the channel of the Ohio river, a few miles below here, the Indiana side has gained seventeen acres at the expense of Kentucky. There are four farms in Union township, this county, that belong to the seminary funds, and the money derived from the rental of these farms each year is turned into the school funds of the State. Heretofore the farms have contained seventy acres each. They have just been rented for another year, and a new survey was made. The survey showed seventy-four acres each in two of the farms, seventy-six in another and seventy-three in another, making a gain of seventeen acres. The farms lie along the river bank, that for several years has been extending farther out into the river, the Kentucky bank gradually washing away.

Christian Church.

At a meeting of the ladies of the church last Wednesday afternoon a Ladies' Aid was formed and the following officers selected: President, Mrs. H. L. Browning; Vice President, Mrs. T. R. Browning; Secretary, Miss Lucile Croushaw; Treasurer, Mrs. S. E. Stevens. Meeting will be held each Wednesday afternoon, at the homes of the members. The meeting this week was with Mrs. Stevens.

Arrangements are about completed for extensive improvements of the church building. The building will be raised about four feet, and a basement constructed containing baptistry and robing rooms. It will also be used for a Sunday school room, the present pews being used, these being replaced by circular oak pews that have already been constructed for.

The Ladies' Auxiliary C. W. B. M. are arranging a special meeting for Feb. 6, to which they have invited the ladies of all the churches and the Auxiliary of the Madisonville church. The program will consist of special music, Scripture reading, prayers and papers. A social session will follow the program.

JOSEPH W. FOLK IS GOV. OF MISSOURI

Inaugurated at Jefferson City Before the General Assembly and Large Audience.

JOHN C. M'KINLEY INAUGURATED
LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR.

The New Governor Walks From the Mansion to the Capitol, Accompanied by Mrs. Folk, Retiring
Gov. Dockery and William Jennings
Bryan.

Jefferson City, Mo., Jan. 10.—Joseph Wingate Folk was inaugurated governor of Missouri at noon Monday.
The new governor and his wife have been staying in the mansion since their arrival Saturday night. Like Gov. A.
M. Dockery did four years ago, Mr.
Folk walk from the mansion to the capitol for the inaugural, about 11:30
a. m. the door of the mansion opened and the official party came out. Gov.
Folk, Mrs. Folk, Gov. Dockery and Col. and Mrs. William J. Bryan, who arrived Sunday night, were in the party.
Mrs. Folk, with the new governor in one side and Gov. Dockery on the other took the lead, and Col. and Mrs.
Bryan followed. The party walked from the mansion down Main street to the state house, where they entered the governor's office.

Promptly at 12 o'clock they left the office and went up the spiral stairway to the second floor. They entered the

JOSEPH WINGATE FOLK

Head of the house of representatives and went down the center aisle to the speaker's stand, where seats had been provided for them.

As the official party entered the hall members of the assembly arose and stood while the officials were taking their places. As soon as the old and new governors and their guests had taken the seats provided for them, the senators and representatives sat down and Speaker David W. Hill called the house to order.

The chaplain of the house offered prayer and then Speaker Hill gave over the chair to Judge Theodore Blanco, supreme justice of Missouri.
Judge Blanco administered the oath of office.

The new governor's inaugural address makes about 6,500 words. He said Missouri is now on trial; he deplored the evil of the railroad pass and the lobby; on government of cities said he believed the people can be trusted to govern themselves; favors free elections, and the election of United States senators by the people.

John A. McKinley, republican, was inaugurated lieutenant-governor.

The inaugural programme concluded with a reception and informal talk at the mansion.

FRENCHMAN WANTS ALICE

Does Into Baptism When He Sees
Her Swimming Alone in a Bath.

Washington, Jan. 10.—This city and Paris are gossiping over a possible alliance between Miss Alice Roosevelt and the courtly Viscount Charles de Cham-rain, a descendant of Lafayette, and secretary to the French embassy. He has been an ardent wooer for a twelvemonth, and it is said he had himself transferred from Rome to the United States because he met her at the unveiling of the Rochambeau statue two years ago, and immediately concluded
she was the girl for him.

The viscount adores Miss Roosevelt for many reasons, one of the most important being her frank girlishness. He went into raptures a few days ago when he saw her swimming alone in the Congress pool at a hotel.

Doesn't Know What's Coming.
Baltimore, Jan. 10.—Bishop Talbot, in a sermon to young men, said: "I hope many of you may become clergymen."
The minister means a great deal.
At present I am bishop of the Central Pennsylvania diocese, but I don't know what I will be in a few months. I am going to change my name," he added jokingly.

Young Woman Found Dead.
Chicago, Jan. 10.—Mabel Wright, 22, of a good family, was found dead in a physician's office across the street from a dance hall she left a few hours before, having, it is said, taken chloroform. A mysterious note and a mysterious call figure prominently in the tragedy.

Must Stay in Penitentiary.
Washington, Jan. 10.—The motion to leave to file petition for a writ of habeas corpus, filed here last week in the Dolan-Barrett case, will not be granted. The case, has been denied by the United States supreme court.

EDUCATIONAL DEPARTMENT

Value of Tasteful Surroundings.

No matter how simple or plain your school room may be, be sure to have it clean and orderly, and keep it so. It matters not whether it be a rude, unplastered room, with large, old fashioned drum stove in the middle of it, or a room with all modern improvements, keep it clean and in order.

I have seen school rooms in our most modern city schools that were far from attractive, the teacher's desk with papers, pencils and books, the blackboards dirty, specimens or collections covered with dust, wilted grasses, cornstalks, etc., that had been used for drawing lessons weeks before; odds and ends scattered everywhere.

You cannot hope or expect pupils to keep their desks in order unless you keep yours so.

First, then, is cleanliness and order;
after that, decoration.

For the walls a soft green is best;
it is neat, restful and forms a good background for pictures. If the walls are dirty and you cannot prevail upon the Board to have them cleaned, buy some cheap ingrain paper, use it crosswise, take a width around the room just above the blackboard; it will be a great improvement.

Get the best pictures you can afford, remembering that one good picture is worth half a dozen cheap ones.
No matter if the other walls do look bare and empty, the one good picture will give your room a greater air of refinement and culture than two dozen cheap ones can give it.

A word as to the selection of pictures. A teacher who had always had a quiet, orderly room, was troubled one winter with the discipline.

Something seemed wrong; her usual methods failed; she could not explain or understand it. The pupils were restless, noisy and quarrelsome.
The principal made a careful study of the room. Behind the teacher's desk hung a large colored picture of a battle; wounded and dying soldiers, ri-dierless horses, officers waving their swords, smoke from the cannons; all the excitement and confusion of battle were so clearly portrayed, one could almost hear the noise of the fight.

The principal removed the picture, substituted a quiet, restful landscape and told the teacher to "look for results." The result was soon apparent; the restless, noisy spirit disappeared and the room again became calm and peaceful. Some time later, in speaking of the change, one boy said, "I guess it must have been that little picture that made us so bad. I always wanted to fight when I looked at it, but this picture makes me feel quiet and good."

Why all means, then, select pictures that will make the pupils feel "quiet and good."

If you are studying about a certain poet, why not have a poet's corner?
One teacher cut out and mounted on heavy cardboard a series of pictures cut from a magazine, illustrating some of Longfellow's most familiar poems;
on smaller cards were mounted one cent Pier Pictures of the poet's birthplace, homes, etc. These pictures were replaced by others when another poet was studied.

Talks During Lessons.

"Speech is silver, but silence is golden," is a motto pointed at the teacher with painful frequency.
Teachers do talk too much, there is no denying the fact. Often, also, they talk too stridently as well. But possibly, if more teachers prepared themselves to talk well and effectively, with a pleasant voice and manner, much of this criticism would disappear. There are many subjects in which the teacher can give instructions, and information too, much more successfully than any text-book. We can all of us remember some teacher whose little informal talks in the midst of a prescribed lesson were like oases in a desert.

Possibly she did talk too much, but she told us so many interesting things and gave us so much to think about, that the digression was more valuable than the lesson. She always had an apt illustration or a striking anecdote to help us over the difficult places, and whatever she said was something worth saying.

Of course, power to talk in this way is born only of long experience, and the conscientious beginner who stops a lesson to deliver a formal lecture, or the teacher who talks aimlessly as the pupils may lead her, simply stultifies herself. But the teacher can prepare herself beforehand to talk well on some subject that needs attention, and school herself to stop when she has said enough.

Wealth of information and a little previous preparation will achieve wonders after a short practice and there will be small fear that a teacher who thus trains herself will be accused of talking too much.—Popular Educator.

Would it not be a wise plan to occasionally devote a Friday afternoon to a talk on current events? Let the children during the week get clippings from the newspapers on happenings all over the country, or it might some times be confined to the State.
This will not only cultivate in them a taste for gaining information, but will assist both teacher and pupil in keeping up with the current events and prove both pleasant and instructive.

A great deal of the stubbornness of a child results from the hastiness of a teacher, who antagonizes by commanding. A plan that rarely fails, is to say quietly, "I will give you five minutes to decide what you will do." Children, like grown people, want to choose the right for themselves and not have it forced upon them.

"Jimmy," said the teacher, after reading the youngster's "note from his father" excusing his absence from school the day before, "it seems to me your father's writing is very much like yours."

"Yes," replied Jimmy, unabashed;
"Pop ain't had no education, and I'm learnin' him."

Children are apt to get a great deal of paper on the floor, also to pile books haphazard in their desks. It encourages tidy habits to pick out the one who has the neatest desk, to pass the scrap basket and to arrange the books on the table or on the teacher's desk.

The following pupils of Wilson
school are on the honor roll:

Ethel May Brown.....92
Chas. Williams.....8.....91
Lloyd Slaton.....9.....91

KATIE GREER, teacher.

"What bird is called the bird of freedom in America?" asked the teacher.

"The turkey," answered the boy at the foot of the class, who was thinking of his Thanksgiving dinner.

Tommy had drawn a picture of a locomotive on his slate and his teacher asked him why he didn't draw the cars, too.

"Oh," answered Tommy, "the locomotive can draw them."

LIVER TROUBLES

"I feel Theodor's Black-Draught
a good medicine for liver disease.
It not only cures the liver, but also the bowels. It is the best medicine I have taken."—MRS. E. E.
MARTIN, Parkersburg, W. Va.

If your liver does not act regularly, go to your druggist and receive a package of Theodor's Black-Draught and take a dose twice a day. This great family medicine from the contemporary, stirs up the torpid liver and causes a healthy secretion of bile.

Theodor's Black-Draught
will cleanse the bowels of impurities and strengthen the kidneys. A torpid liver invites colds, biliousness, chills and fever and all manner of sickness and contagion. Weak kidneys result in Bright's disease, which claims as many victims
as consumption. Weak liver causes Theodor's Black-Draught should always be kept in the house.

"I used Theodor's Black-Draught for liver and kidney troubles and found it the best medicine I ever used."

quette, Ill.

THEODOR'S BLACK- DRAUGHT

REV. W. E. HINSHAW PAROLED

Th Indiana Preacher Convicted of Wife Murder Set Free.

It Was the Last Official Act of Gov.
Durbine, And Is Practically
a Pardon.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 11.—On the tenth anniversary of the murder of his wife, Rev. William K. Hinshaw, sentenced to prison for life as the guilty man, has been unconditionally paroled by Gov. Durbine. It was his last official act. The parole is virtually a pardon, as he can never be returned to prison except on the order of the governor, and it is expected that the only later action that will ever be taken will be to change the parole to absolute pardon.

Hardly a day has passed within the last ten years that his mother has not said that she would be willing to die in peace and happiness if her son was clear of the stigma that has blotted his name. When the news of her son's release was broken to her, her only reply was "I thank God; I thank God."
To Hinshaw the parole brings both joy and sadness—joy because the chief cause of his long imprisonment, executive has by an act of clemency, publicly declared confidence in his absolute innocence, sadness because the act recalls the tragedy that happened ten years ago, when his wife was murdered and himself seriously injured.

In issuing the unconditional parole, Gov. Durbine took the ground that the state had failed utterly to prove a motive for the crime. The case to-day is as full of mystery as it was ten years ago, the governor said. The mystery of the affair was regarded as sufficient reason for the release. "The governor holds that Hinshaw, in returning to the outside world, would make himself objectionable to no one, his record as a model prisoner being sufficient evidence that he would make an honest, upright, law-abiding citizen.

BABY'S FACE MASS OF SORES

Ears Looked as If They Would Drop Off—Body Entirely Covered with Humor—Three Doctors Could Not Cure—Child Grew Worse.

CURED BY CUTICURA IN TWO WEEKS

Mrs. George J. Stees, of 701 Cohorn St., Akron, Ohio, tells in the following letter of another of those remarkable cures of torturing, disgusting skin humors daily made by Cuticura Soap, assisted by Cuticura Ointment, after physicians and all else had failed. "I feel it my duty to parents of other poor suffering mothers to tell you what Cuticura has done for my little daughter. She broke out all over her body with a humor, and we used everything recommended, but without results. I called in three doctors, they all claimed they could help her, but she continued to grow worse. Her body was a mass of sores, and her little face was eaten away, her ears looked as if they would drop off. Neighbors advised me to use Cuticura Soap and Ointment, and before I had used half of the cake of soap and box of ointment the sores had all healed, and my little one's face and body was as clear as a newborn babe's. I would not be without it again if I had cost five dollars. It has cost me only cents, which is all it cost us to cure our baby, after having spent many dollars on doctors and medicines without any benefit whatever."

Wearily Willing Walker.

"Weary Willie Walker," is a play full of genuine heart interest, and full of exciting scenes and surprising climaxes. It has an interesting plot, and holds the audience spellbound through the four acts. It is sponsored by a company of performers, specially engaged for each city, and of such a production which, together with the vast amount of new and beautiful scenery, keeps the audience in a suppressed state of excitement. It is a play which appeals to the innermost recesses of the heart; hence its wonderful success. Temple Theatre, Thursday, Jan. 12.

How to Avoid Pneumonia.

"We have never heard of a single instance of a cold resulting in pneumonia or other lung trouble when Foley's Honey and Tar has been taken. It not only stops the cough, but breaks and strengthens the lungs. Ask for Foley's Honey and Tar, and refuse any substitute offered. Dr. C. J. Bishop, of Akron, Ohio, writes: 'I have used Foley's Honey and Tar in three very severe cases of pneumonia with good results in every case.'

Lessons by Phonograph.

Teaching modern languages by means of the phonograph is a new device. It is employed by some of the many correspondence schools that have sprung up all over the country in the last year or two. At the headquarters of the school the teacher speaks the lesson into the funnel of the machine. These records are then mailed to the student, who may live a thousand miles away, together with a phonograph and several blank records.

In his own home the student sets the phonograph going and listens while it repeats as pure German, Italian or French as the teacher knows how to speak. Having learned the lesson he repeats it to the talking machine and sends the record back to the school, where the teacher criticizes it for his benefit.

Principles of the method are also, but from the phonograph it is ascertained the pupil learns correct pronunciation as he never could from books, and almost as well as he would from the instructor at first hand.

Good Spirits.

Good spirits don't all come from Kentucky. There is an source in the liver—and all the fine spirits ever made in the Blue Grass State could not remedy a bad liver or the hundred-and-one ill effects it produces. You can't have good spirits and a bad liver at the same time. Your liver will be in fine condition if you would feel buoyant, happy and hopeful, bright of eye, light of step, vigorous and successful in your work. You can get this in fine condition by using Green's August Flower—the greatest of all medicines for the liver and stomach and a certain cure for dyspepsia or indigestion. It has been a favorite household remedy for over thirty-five years. August Flower will make your liver healthy and active and thus insure a liberal supply of "good spirits." Trial size, 25c; regular bottles, 75c. At all druggists.

Tonic to the System.

For liver trouble and constipation, there is nothing better than Dr. Williams' Little Early Bitters, the famous Little Pills. They do not weaken the stomach. Their action upon the system is mild, pleasant and harmless. Bob Moore, of LaFayette, Ind., says: "No one talking, Dr. Williams' Little Early Bitters do the work. All other pills I have used cramp and make me sick in the stomach, and never cure me. I am simply perfect. Persons traveling far from home, Early Bitters the most reliable remedy."

A Costly Joke.

"I suppose there comes to every man a desire to do something smart on an occasion," said the drummer, as a high took the place of his smile, according to the New York Times.

"Well, such a desire came to me as I was walking in a park, south of city after a week's stay. The waiter at my table had called me 'General' and been at great pains to care for me and I made up my mind to reward him with a $5 bill. It was a counterfeit with which I had been stuck, but I thought it would be the biggest kind of a joke to work it off on Bob."

"I had got a hundred miles away" when I was arrested on a telegram for passing counterfeit money, and when taken back I was arraigned in a United States court and had to give bail and appear on three different occasions. I had a lawyer and other expenses, the Missouri Pacific weeks altogether and just escaped prison by the skin of my teeth. In addition to this I had to make good to the waiter, who sorrowfully shook his head when he received the money and said:

"I'm sorry for you, General, but this may be so means of saving' your contemptible soul from the gallus!"

NEBO NOTES.

The excitement in the tobacco market still continues and the farmers are highly pleased. Should the prices still remain as they are at present the farmers will plant a big crop and bring prices back to the old standard.

The Nebo correspondent of the Hustler tells of a cow whose owner in moving turned his cow out of the lot at the place he was leaving expecting her to go to the stalkfield where he could get her at some future time, but instead of doing so she took the road and went to the new home and went to the gate and bawled for some one to come and take her. There is a man living in this place, said he would have to move onto a back street or never get any more eggs. When asked the reason he said that so many wagons passed and that he had moved so often and bawled his chickens every time they heard a wagon rattle they would lay down and cross their legs to be tied.

LOCOMOTIVE BLASTS

The new General Manager, Mr. B. M. Starks, accompanied by the fourth vice president, went through here in their special car on No. 51 last Thursday.

J. A. Hindman after firing several months on the Shawnee Branch has returned to his old job as engine watchman at McLeansboro, Ill.

W. A. Stearns, the chief draftsman, of Louisville, was at Howell last Sunday.

Last Friday morning 280 on the St. Louis Division ran into the rear end of first section on a sharp curve near McLeansboro, Ill. Engineer Springer and fireman Schimmelman jumped off before the collision occurred, Springer being slightly injured. Also brakeman Frank Ewers, who was on the engine, and jumped, was slightly injured. Strangely enough, there was a similar accident on the Henderson Division the same day. As a result of these two accidents engine 972 and 1030 were considerably damaged and have been laid up for repairs.

Fireman C. L. Garrison was in Evansville Monday on business.

Are you reading the "Letters of an Engineer to His Master Mechanic" running in this department. If you like them, tell others about them. If you don't like them, tell us.

Thomas Walsh went to St. Louis on business Monday.

Edward Hender, switch engineer at E. St. Louis, has been off for some time on account of sickness.

Business has suddenly picked up and the men are calling for rest.

J. R. Brown has been transferred from the car department at Howell to the yard as switchman.

L. L. Patterson and William Enlow of Howell were at Madisonville last week attending court.

Frank Sherman, the air brake instructor for the system, was on the division Tuesday.

Warner Campbell, an engineer on the Rio Grande R. R. in Colorado, who lost his life last Sunday morning in a wreck, the engine which he was running having turned over, has many friends in this section, where he began his career as a railroad man.

Letters of an Engineer to His Master Mechanic, No. 11.

Dear Sir:—Well, we had quite a delay at Dunn station today. It was all due to a misunderstanding on the part of the crew. We had been running so fast to make up time that every box on the train had gotten hot, and we had to take the siding at Dunn station to cool them off. Conductor Puncle came up to the engine and said he didn't think it was his place to cool off them boxes, as the company did not expect him to get his hands dirty, and that he thought it was my place. I told him I did not have anything to do with the train more than to pull it, and that if he did not feel disposed to cool them off probably Draggan would do it, but he declared that as trainmaster Kaseump had told him to be governed strictly according to rules and as there was nothing in the rules requiring him to cool off hot boxes he didn't think it was up to him to do it. I asked fireman Skape-shoval if he thought it was our place to cool them off. He didn't think it was. So we stood pat. Conductor Puncle got so hot he actually needed cooling off too. He said, "We'll go to the depot and send a message to trainmaster Kaseump and find out whose duty it is!" but the operator was off somewhere playing poker and could not be found to send it. We chewed the rag around there for more than hour, while it seems the boxes cooled off themselves in less than half that time. I actually think it would be to the interest of the Company to put another conductor on the Lightning Bolt Express.

Yours truly,
S. ARMY KOWETZKE
Engineer.

A SUCCESSFUL OPERATION.

Gov. Deane's Daughter, Dorothy, Successfully Operated Upon for Appendicitis at Chicago.

Chicago, Jan. 11.—Dorothy Deane, the ten-year-old daughter of Gov. Deane, who has been suffering with appendicitis for the past few days, was successfully operated upon Tuesday night. After the operation, attending physicians announced that everything seemed favorable for the recovery of the patient.

Gov. Deane, who was recalled from Springfield Monday night on account of the child's illness, said that he would not return to the state capital until his daughter was out of danger.

Kansas City, Mo., Jan. 11.—A receiver has been appointed for the Mexican Gulf Commercial Co., a Maine corporation with $3,000,000 capital, half paid in, as the result of a bill of complaint filed in the federal court against the company by the Fidelity Trust Co.

Twenty Japanese killed. London, Jan. 11.—The correspondent at Port Arthur of the Daily Mail says that, on January 8, 20 Japanese were killed by the explosion of a contact mine inside one of the forts, and that two mines in the own also exploded.

THE LAND FRAUDS KEEP BOBBING UP

Montana Follows in the Wake of Oregon and Idaho With a Land Fraud Scandal.

DEMAND FOR AN INVESTIGATION WAS MADE BY SENATOR GIBSON.

The Senator asserts that fraudulent filings have been made by influential individuals and interests on large areas of desert land.

Washington, Jan. 6.—Montana is now to the fore with a land fraud scandal. The demand for an investigation was made by Senator Gibson in a letter to the general land office.

Special agents have already been sent to Great Falls and other points throughout the state to conduct a preliminary inquiry. The president and Secretary Hitchcock have the charges in hand, and will make a thorough investigation.

Senator Gibson asserts that fraudulent filings have been made by influential individuals and interests on large areas of desert land believed to contain rich copper and other mineral deposits. Various charges made several years ago of timber land frauds are also to be sifted.

"I always accuse my own back-ground," he said after the "interview," "and those who challenge me to combat would do well to be cautious."

"The efforts made to connect my name with the land frauds have no basis whatever. I called the senate's attention to the land frauds being perpetrated in Idaho in a speech a year ago concerning grants to the Northern Pacific."

"I stood ready then and I stand ready now to assist the government in ferreting out the criminals and securing their punishment."

Washington, Jan. 8.—It can be authoritatively announced that reports of the early retirement from the office of Secretary Shaw are entirely unfounded. Mr. Shaw will remain until February 1, 1905, when his four-year term will expire.

It is not finally settled that he will not stay longer than that, but in any event he will not stay longer than the end of 1906, as he wishes to devote a year and a half to his campaign for the presidential nomination in 1908.

George B. Cortelyou, who will become postmaster-general March 4 next, has been mentioned as the possible successor of Mr. Shaw. It is most likely that Mr. Cortelyou will be postmaster-general until President Roosevelt retires in 1908.

Good Stories About Stage Folk

DESMAN THOMPSON of "Old Homestead" fame was discussing with a party of friends the great automobile race on Long Island.

"They hadn't any right," said one of the party, "to deprive the farmers of the highway which they are paying taxes for."

In reply, says the New York Times, the actor told this story:

"A few days after the race," he said, "I happened to be driving over part of the same course. I stopped at a farmhouse and asked to be allowed to give the horse some water. I got some good hard cider along with it."

"What did you think of the automobile race?" I asked my genial host.

"The best thing for me that ever happened," replied the farmer.

"What?" I exclaimed. "I thought all you farmers were against it."

"Not me," said the farmer. "You see, I got a bulky male that draws my stuff into morning. Yesterday, when that male balked half-way to the barn, I couldn't get him to stir. While I was trying to coax him to stir a strange thing was going on in the roadway—sort of a rubber thing. I picked it up and as excitedly squeezed it. It let out a terrible noise, just like one of those machines, and that male started, and we squeaked it and never stopped till it got to the ferry. I brought it home and I showed it to Maudie, and we squeezed it and squeezed it and squeezed it, and every darn chicken ran to the coop, every darn pig hid in the pen, every darn cow behind the door, the cat got behind the stove, the dog got in his house, and Maudie and me spent the quietest night we've had in many a day. No stress of all the labor-saving machines I ever did hear of this is the best."

While a newspaper interviewer was visiting Wilton Lackaye in his dressing room in Chicago recently a note was brought in. It was written in French, asked for a moment and was signed by an English actor who has been "resting" in this country for the last four years.

Lackaye dug down in his jeans, and the newspaper man said, "You are sure you are going to give it up?"

Lackaye answered: "Certainly I am. You don't suppose I would let that Englishman go all over town and tell people that I can't read French?"

Lackaye's success in "The Pit" brought a flood of manuscripts of plays from all parts of the United States. Recently by special appointment a dramatist undertook to read his play to the star and several of the leading members of his company. After he had read the manuscript he remarked that he knew nothing so terrible as reading a piece before a critic and the people.

"I know one thing much more terrible," said Lackaye.

"What can that be?" asked the dramatist.

"To be obliged to sit and hear it," answered the actor.

"I was the hero in a play some years ago," John Drew said recently, "and in one scene was supposed to hurt the first heavy over a low parapet down to his death four feet below. Blank and I usually crumpled and swayed about the stage until I had him back to the parlorhouse wall. Then I would whisper, 'Tendy,' and he would stiffen up. I would exert a little strength, he would raise himself by pushing his hands gently against my shoulders, and the finale was always satisfactory and sensational."

"But one night Blank came on in a slightly dazed condition. He had been up all night and had been drinking just enough to make him drowsy. He spoke his lines all right, and we got along nicely until it came time for him to die. Then, with a muttered 'Cue you!' we clucked, but I at once saw that I was to have my hands full. An old negro once told me: 'Debanter roger, grip a ole, de wuss youse gwine ter find it. Dat ole jes' gwine ter git away from you shank, ah. But jes' him dat ed gently, and de's a big heap of difference.'"

"Well, I suppose it's the name with the inert human form. Anyway, the minute I glimpsed Blank he collapsed. When I picked him up by the middle of his head and shoulders slumped, and I could not elevate him. Then I got behind him, clutched him by the shoulders and tried to pass my arms about his knees, but his head slipped through my grasp like a bag of mail. Then I tried to stand him up so that I could catch hold of his ankles and topple him over. We went down together. He made no opposition; just rolled as usual. After I had whisked myself to no I could be staggered by his feet and said hushly, 'Let me do it' and over he vaulted."

But it taught me a lesson—that is, that no life athlete can throw a stunt over a fence or wall if the stunt man will only relax his muscles and do nothing. I've seen it tried since then on a stage several times, but I never saw the aggressor win."

Robert Edison is a native of New Orleans. His father was a Confederate officer, and Mr. Edison still carries several Confederate battle flags in his pocketbook. According to his friends, this is for good luck.

The cashier at a New York restaurant has a different explanation.

One night not long ago Mr. Edison had a very poor dinner, and when the waiter brought him the bill he handed over a one-dollar Confederate note in payment.

"This is no good, sir," exclaimed the waiter.

"It's as good as the dinner," replied the actor.

Joseph Jefferson has stocked the lake on his Louisiana farm with bass and other game fish. Not long ago he came upon a stranger fishing in his lake.

"See here," said the great comedian. "What do you mean by catching my fish?"

"Begorra," replied the fisherman, slowly removing his pipe from his mouth. "O'm no flamin' O'm flacin' these wurrums how to swim!"

Some years ago Mr. Jefferson took a lady to a restaurant, and when he put his hand in his pocket to pay the bill he couldn't find a cent. He explained his position to the cashier, but the cashier didn't know what the stranger meant. The waiter began to ooze, when a gentleman stepped up, laid a twenty-dollar bill on the desk and said, "I know you, sir, allow me to settle." Jefferson was profuse in his thanks and said, "You must give me your name and address, sir, in order that I may call round tomorrow and settle."

"Never mind," said the stranger, with a smile; "that bill was a counterfeit, and I got $17 in change."

Willie Jefferson, son of the famous Joe, is a typical Jefferson in habits, manners, looks and Joseph Jefferson.

One day Joe Willie was given a nice fat sum out of the savings of his distinguished father and allowed to go to Europe for the summer. Willie wrote one day Joseph Jefferson received a cablegram from Willie, then in Paris:

"Dear Dad, I'm in the city of the elder Jefferson answered: "What for?"

The reply seemed to arrive almost before Mr. Jefferson's message was sent. It read: "For Willie."

Willie received the money.

Not long ago Mrs. Patrick Campbell was returning to England from France after a short holiday and on meeting a Polakonian pier she noticed that a young man, whom she considered rather fresh, was standing behind her, gazing toward the house on the hill ground behind the beach. Suddenly the young man remarked to her:

"See that house up there, Mrs. Campbell? I'm indicating the exact location of a fine looking mansion standing out in the sunlight."

"Yes," said Mrs. Pat. With a certain amount of pride he remarked, "Well, I was born there."

"What a pity," said Mrs. Campbell. And the young man dropped the conversation.

A few weeks ago Mrs. Benrich was feeling out of sorts and called in her physician. As she was sitting the next night her treatment was necessary to get her into condition. A part of this consisted of some very nasty medicine.

"I will take anything but that," she said after the doctor had tried to persuade her for some time that it was unpleasant, but very wonderful in its effects. "One taste is enough."

"But you must try," said the doctor. "This medicine is the only thing that will cure you to get you in anything like a proper condition. You must not think of yourself now. Do it for the sake of the public. Why, I believe they would be glad to see you."

"Would they?"

"Indeed they would."

"Well, then let them take it," said the doctor, and the subject changed.

Getting back at him.

Mrs. Benrich wondered what people will wear in heaven?

Benjamin I suppose you will want the most expensive things, the same as we."

Mrs. Benrich: "That needn't worry you; you part of that to wear to pay for them.—Brooklyn Life."

The value of salt in fattening steers has been studied and experimented with. It appears that the heavy use of salt leads to a heavy consumption of water, thereby increasing the flow of urine—a result not desirable. An investigator along this line recommends one ounce of salt per day for a steer weighing 1,000 pounds at the beginning of the fattening period, and one and one-third of an ounce at the middle and one and two-thirds at the close. The form of salt granular or rock, is a matter of convenience with the stockman.—Prairie Farmer.

Dry lime and ashes should be kept where the sheep resort. Slacked lime, if scattered freely, will set the sheep to sneezing, and many grubs will be thrown out. This should be done in the morning, as the grubs are then lower down in the nostrils than at other times.—Midland Farmer.

Bologna sausage, if well made, is a first-class meat, but it is frequently so adulterated. About one-half of the meat used should be good beef. The other third can be pork and other meats mixed of desired. It is seasoned with salt and pepper and spices. Salt and pepper should be added about the same as for pork sausage, and aniseed one tablespoonful per gallon of ground sausage. This sausage must be thoroughly ground. Frequently it must be run through the mill, at least three times to make it fine enough to become a solid product when stuffed into the skins. They are then hung and smoked like hams.

Secretary of Agriculture Wilson at Washington has announced that he proposes to bring the bill in the interest of the tobacco growers of Kentucky and Tennessee to the attention of the president and his cabinet. The bill passed the house and is now in the senate. It is to repeal the tax of six cents a pound on leaf tobacco. Secretary Wilson will insist on its passage by the senate, but Senator Aldrich is opposed to the bill and expects to fight it.

An Alphabetical Tale.

A man who hailed from over O's. Desired a place to raise some O's. And as the chap was rather Y's He searched around with all his O's. He searched around for many O's. Unlike some O's and hasty J's. From wisper folk he took his Q's. And found a farm that he could U's. So long he bounc'd a flock of hens To help him out to gain his N's. With practiced folk he always G's. Attempts to raise no spice nor T's. But sturdy stuff he always grows And thus he pays all his O's. He's money made on beans and P's. And thus attained a life of F's.—Will S. Atkins in Houston Chronicle.

Some Dry Lot Hog Feeds.

For dry lot or pen feeding of hogs the cheapest feed is corn supplemented with meat middlings or oil cake. At the Missouri station we have made 100 pounds of pork from five parts of 80 per cent. corn and one part of 24 oil meal, at a cost of $7.75 per hundred weight. At the same time we made 100 pounds of pork from two parts of corn and one part of 115 wheat middlings, at a cost of $2.88. In the same experiment corn alone made pork at a cost of $3.83 per hundred weight.

A bulletin on the feeding of unborn lots of hogs in pens at this college is soon to be published.—E. B. Forbes in Globe-Democrat.

Raising Tea in the South.

Dr. Charles A. Shepard, of South Carolina, has proved on his own plantation, at Summerville, twenty miles out of Charleston, that the growing of tea can be carried on successfully and profitably. He has been doing this for twelve years with such good results, says the Chicago Chronicle, that the secretary of agriculture and the Congress of the United States highly approve his deeds, and both are extending him liberal assistance.

"My idea from the start," said Dr. Shepard, "was to add an additional crop to the farm products of the country. The road to agricultural supremacy is through diversifying. My friends seem to think I have been successful, and I have every reason to be gratified with what has been accomplished."

"Tea raising in the United States is certainly practicable. It is no longer in this country, for in the old days a French priest planted tea on the banks of the Ashley river. But owing to the difference in the cost of labor the United States can compete with the Orient in the grade of cheap tea. It will pay us to produce that of the highest quality, which brings a high price in the market. The tea grown on my place in South Carolina compares with the best that is imported from Eastern lands."

Points in Fertilizing.

There is always a large proportion of nitrogen in barnyard manure, but the materials of the manure may not be immediately soluble, which retards the nitrogen available until late in the season should the manure be applied to the soil for early crops. For this reason a fertilizer rich in nitrogen should be used in connection with the manure, such as nitrate of soda or sulphate of ammonia, which may be applied to the soil when the manure is spread.

Fifteen counties of the dark tobacco district were represented at a conference of planters held in Guthrie on Jan. 6 and discussed plans for the advancement of the association. What to charge for pricing and how to control the 1908 acreage was discussed. It was finally decided to refer the acreage proposition back to the various counties for instructions and decision.

Frank Apples.

Everybody knows there are red apples. That is to say, the outside of the apples are red. It would not be safe to eat, however, that there are no apples the fruit of which is red to the core, for George Stevens, of Lee Valley, N. Y., has a tree in his orchard that bears apples that are red to the inside. The tree is self-planted and is about eight years old. When it came up it was regarded as a sort of scrub, and the owner was inclined to cut it down. But when it commenced to bear and produce fruit that was red on the inside it was considered a freak and allowed to grow.

The tree hangs full of apples every year. The skin of the fruit is light yellow, like a poppy, and the flesh runs from a bright red to a salmon color. The apples are not large, but are good eating, being, as the Irishman says, "rather sweet nor sour, but tasty." These apples are a curiosity to all who see them. It seems to be a case where the red coloring matter has gone into the fruit instead of the skin, as it usually does.

Outlook for Wheat Not Favorable.

The snow which has covered the winter wheat crop for two weeks melted away the past week, with a good general rain and a few days of frost. The wheat crop has been followed by a sudden fall in temperature, with high winds, accompanied by more snow over the northern and central portions of the wheat section. Late reports reflect the condition of the wheat plant during the few days of warm rainy weather, and indicate that the wheat plant has suffered less by the effects of frost than was feared, especially in the Ohio Valley, where the drought was most severe. The plant greened up, with signs of renewed growth, and the impression is that the condition of the plant is better than had been previously reported and on the whole would seem to be up to the average at this time. What effect the latter sudden fall in temperature will have, where the ground was full of moisture and unprotected, will be more fully indicated hereon. Such weather conditions are not regarded as favorable for the tender wheat plants, though it is yet doubtful whether any serious harm has resulted therefrom. The plant is generally small, but well rooted.

Just keep the bag and tents well blanketed in fresh beef tallow. Always be sure it is fresh. It will cure self-sucking in a short time.

The 1904 broom corn crop of Kansas is estimated by the state board of agriculture at 13,133,535 pounds, against 8,969,535 pounds in 1903.
